A.wordsmith secured three print features and six digital placements around two major initiatives for the veterinary hospital.

Client Description

DoveLewis is a nonprofit veterinary hospital that has served the Portland community for over 45 years. The hospital provides both emergency and specialty services, as well as critical care.

Project Description

DoveLewis approached A.wordsmith in need of a media relations strategy that would increase local awareness around two key initiatives. The first initiative highlighted the hospital's summer and fall projects, including their Dogtoberfest fundraiser, partnership with Lucky Lab Brewing and holiday pet safety advice. The second showcased DoveLewis' newly renovated hospital space featuring added square footage for exams and surgeries. A.wordsmith leveraged media and influencer relations to enhance awareness of DoveLewis' expertise and grow community support.

Key Results

A.wordsmith secured three print features — two of which made the front cover — six digital placements, and features in broadcast and radio. DoveLewis also saw national coverage in Today's Veterinary Business magazine, along with social media coverage from local influencers on Instagram.
